

Introduction

Implementation is the realization of an action plan whether structured or informal. A recent formal example for ACC would be the implementation referring to the carrying out of public policy due to laws passed by the legislature. This was implemented via a bureaucratic process that consists of rule – making and other factors that may impact the intent.

Objective

We will be determining factors affecting decision implementation within an organization.

Summary

The act of decision implementation means you have taken the time to develop the details necessary to make something work. While the concept or idea can be simple, the implementation can be a long process.
