Student Success and Equity

1. ACC commits to providing programs, services, and support that enable students to succeed in learning and achieving their educational goals equitably across all demographic groups.
2. The college is committed to having effective and efficient pathways for all students to achieve their personal and professional goals.
3. Providing all students with guided and planned opportunities, support, and resources to achieve their individual level career and/or educational goals with focused attention on student cohorts that require specialized support.
4. ACC achieves student success and equity by fostering a culture that allows all students to gain what they want to achieve - new knowledge, completion of a course, a certificate, a degree.*
5. Achieve student success by providing identifiable pathways to include support services regardless of the knowledge level, communication skill level, or socio-economic in order for them to succeed.
6. To ensure student success by providing academic, financial, wellness, and family support services.

NOTE: At the 2012 Planning Retreat, the group felt that the two statements with the most votes could be combined into one strategic priority statement with some minor wording changes. Here is a draft combined statement:

ACC commits to providing programs, services, and support that enable students to succeed in learning and in achieving their personal, professional, and educational goals equitably and efficiently across all demographic groups.

Student Access

1. ACC is committed to serving the educational aspirations and needs of adults in our service area through maintaining low tuition, welcoming all with efficient guided paths to establish academic and career goals, and comprehensive support services to aid their success.
2. To provide recruitment, enrollment, and retention support to allow equal educational opportunity for all.
3. Providing an open and nurturing environment where the student benefits academically and socially from the college's resources. - Access to developmental remedies to obtain college readiness. Offering courses in a variety of formats and at a variety of times. As a result, the student will have easy access to student support services to facilitate their success in courses for both campus-based and distance learning.*
4. Access is a tool to success. Maintaining an open access institution is important throughout the student's college career, beginning with the transition into college through each semester. - Resources from the college should be maintained at a quality level, equitable, and appropriate to students' needs.*
5. Removing barriers to access is essential: meningitis vaccine, financial aid, and college readiness.
6. If someone does not serve our students someone else will so provide a student feed board (i.e. Whole Foods).

NOTE: At the 2012 Planning Retreat, the group felt that number 3 above was typed incompletely, so the remainder was read aloud before voting. The numbered list above has complete language.
