

From Rubric to Gradebook Online Training Note

If the assessment sheets do not print out, print out this page, add your scores, and turn in the following to the first class of EDTC 3004.

Eg: For essay #12, how did your score compare to the tenured teacher? If you are within a point or two of the tenured teacher, you will pass the training. I rated the essay at 1 across the board, and I agreed with the tenured teacher!

The screenshot shows a web browser window displaying the 'From Rubric to Gradebook' website. The browser's address bar shows the URL: <http://www.austinctc.edu/teacher/rubric/teachingsets.php#teachingsets>. The website header includes the Austin Community College District logo and the slogan 'Start Here. Get There.' Below the header is a search bar and navigation links. The main content area is titled 'From Rubric to Gradebook' and features a sidebar with navigation options: Overview, Student Learning, Procedure, Content, Assessment, Course Competencies, Supplementary Resources, Recommendations, Acknowledgements, and Teacher Certification Home. The main content is organized into sections: 'Writing Sets' (Teaching Set with essays #12, #23, #3, #17), 'Practice Set' (essays #22, #23, #4, #5), 'Testing Set' (essays #16, #15, #6, #9), and 'Retesting Set' (essays #20, #26, #7, #24). The footer contains contact information and a last modified date of November 26, 2007.

The interesting part of this training is that as you learn how to assess student writing (interest, voice, ideas related, ideas developed, mechanics, and organization), you can compare your opinion (based on a rubric) to a teacher assessment of real students.

This is the HOW of assessment!
