Historical Profile

The Austin Community College (ACC) District was established in December 1972 by voters of the Austin Independent School District (AISD). In the fall of 1973, ACC registered 2,363 students. Classes began on September 17, 1973. The AISD Board of Trustees served as ACC’s Board of Trustees, and the College shared the district’s boundaries.

In December 1978, ACC was accredited by the Commission on Colleges of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools (SACS) to award associate degrees. ACC’s enrollment had increased to 13,481 students.

On March 1, 1982, the AISD Board, following the guidelines of the Texas Education Code, established ACC’s own governing Board of Trustees, consisting of nine elected members. Accreditation was reaffirmed by SACS in 1983, 1993, and 2004.

With its purchase of the Austin Country Club in January 1983, ACC acquired its first real estate. Situated at 5712 East Riverside Drive, the property is now ACC’s Riverside Campus. ACC’s Board of Trustees held its first election in the spring of that year.

On November 5, 1985, 83 percent of the citizens of the Leander Independent School District voted to become part of the ACC taxing district.

Following the passage of the 1985 General Appropriations Act, which stated that “it is the intent of the Legislature that all public junior colleges receiving state appropriations shall initiate procedures necessary to secure ad valorem revenues sufficient to supplement the funding of the district by August 31, 1987,” ACC held a successful tax base election on March 15, 1986. The measure passed by 54.2% and approved a maximum rate of 5 cents per $100 assessed property valuation.

On November 3, 1998, 70 percent of the citizens of the Manor ISD voted to become part of the ACC taxing district.

On May 3, 2003, voters held a successful referendum that increased the College’s maximum tax rate to 9 cents per $100 assessed property valuation and approved the sale of $99 million in bonds for construction of a South Austin campus and other facility improvements.

On May 15, 2004, 60 percent of the voters of the Del Valle Independent School District approved annexation into the ACC taxing district.

On May 7, 2005, 79 percent of voters approved a proposal to annex City of Austin territory not already in the ACC District. Annexed areas included portions of Pflugerville, Round Rock, and Eanes Independent School Districts inside the Austin city limits.

On May 10, 2008, sixty-four percent of the voters of the Round Rock Independent School District approved annexation into the ACC taxing district.

On November 2, 2010, 61 percent of the voters of the Elgin Independent School District and 59 percent of the voters of the Hays Consolidated Independent School District approved annexation into the ACC taxing district.

Austin Community College District

Tim Mahoney
Place 1: Term ends in 2014

Tim Mahoney, first elected as a board member in May 2008, is an attorney, community lawyer, and trained mediator. Building structures for community cooperation and consensus have been among his longtime interests, and community education has been his passion. Graduating in 1974 from Dallas Community College, Mahoney returned to Austin in 1975, completing a degree in Humanities from the University of Texas in 1978. Mahoney’s journalism skills won him a number of national awards for articles written in The Texas Observer about taxing and bank-holding companies. Mahoney’s attendance at the LBJ School of Public Affairs resulted in his 1982 Master’s thesis: A Case Study of Decentralized Power Systems and Municipal Politics, Austin, Texas, 1979 to 1981. Entering the South Texas College of Law in 1989, he received his J.D. in 1991, with course work at the University of Texas School of Law. Mahoney was licensed to practice law in Texas in 1992.

Community colleges are the gateway to higher learning, absolutely essential for growing a workforce that will sustain a robust future for Texas citizens. Mahoney is the product of a community college. During his campaign in early 2008, he was buoyed by the spontaneous stories voters told him about their positive community college experiences. Often these folks were the first in a working-class family to go to college, worked while going to school, or increased their educational opportunities at different stages of their lives. For many, without the community college option, there would have been no college at all!

For the last few years, Mahoney has worked with other community leaders to find ways to empower local communities. That continuing effort has included organizing neighborhood-based capacity-building training programs, including the 2007 Neighborhood Planning Conference at Austin Community College’s Eastview Campus. See: www.neighboraustin.com.

Mahoney and his wife, Melanie, have been married since 1989. Between them they have four children. The two oldest are married; one lives in Chicago, Illinois, and the other in Asheville, North Carolina. The two youngest attend AISD schools.

Dr. Victor H. P. Villarreal

Victor H. P. Villarreal, Ph.D., was elected to the Austin Community College District Board of Trustees in June 2010. Previously, he served on the Leander City Council from 2005 to 2009, including mayor pro tem in 2007-2008.

A longtime community volunteer and education advocate, Villarreal has focused his efforts on advancing initiatives aimed at successfully transitioning students from High School to college, and initiatives providing for expanded college presence and access. Among the initiatives Villarreal started was a region-wide push to bring more higher education access to western Williamson County. In 2006, as part of these efforts, and at the time as a Leander city councilmember, Villarreal formulated a strategy which included conducting a nine-month public survey and study culminating with a comprehensive 64-page report he authored on Leander’s higher education needs and potential, the first report of its kind for a community in western Williamson County. These reporting efforts, in part, resulted in the establishment of ACC’s Leander teaching Center and, securing ACC’s commitment for a future comprehensive campus in Leander.

Villarreal has also served his community in a variety of other roles. Villarreal has held numerous leadership positions with the City of Leander and Leander Independent School District. These include service as a city planning and zoning commissioner, City Charter Committee vice chairman, and as 2007 Leander ISD Citizens Bond Committee co-chair. With the ACC District, he co-chaired the Campus Advisory Committee for the Cypress Creek Campus, which is based in Leander ISD.

Additionally, Villarreal has served on the boards of directors for the Twin Lakes YMCA, Leander Library Foundation, Williamson County Children’s Advocacy Center, Capital Area Economic Development District, and the ACC Foundation. Villarreal also has been a longtime volunteer with Leander ISD, serving as a student mentor, classroom speaker, and campus site-based committee member. Villarreal is a 2007 graduate of Leadership Leander ISD.

Professionally, Villarreal is a faculty member at several colleges and universities around the country. Since 2005, Villarreal has taught both undergraduate and graduate business, ethics and organizational behavior courses with the Florida Institute of Technology and Colorado Technical University. Villarreal was an adjunct management professor at Austin Community College from 2006 to 2010.

Recognitions include Colorado Tech's Advisor's Choice Award for Faculty in 2006 and the 2010 Award of Excellence from the Texas Municipal League. Villarreal is a five-time recipient of the league’s Certificate of Recognition in Education. Villarreal was awarded a bachelor’s degree in government from the University of Texas at Austin and master’s degree and Ph.D. in organizational management and leadership from Capella University. Villarreal holds the Certified Municipal Official (C.M.O.) designation from the Texas Municipal League. Villarreal is married to Sandra L. 1. Weekly figures are based on a 44-week year, to account for closed times.
2. This increase is due to, among other things, significant increases in enrollment, renovated environment, and use of technology.
3. A 10% drop needs study. Library Services is assessing why general information literacy sessions have reduced at several locations.
4. In these classes, faculty librarians and classroom faculty have worked together to design activities to teach students the information literacy skills appropriate to that class. The programs are integrated into the coursework for all classes taught on that subject (English Composition I, Chemistry I, Introduction to Business, Developmental Reading, Developmental Writing) or into selected classes.
5. Electronic usage is computed on a 47-week year, as these are available 24/7.

5 Electronic usage is computed on a 47-week year, as these are available 24/7.
6 The addition of EBSCOhost Integrated Search in FY10 increased database usage significantly.
7 Searches signifies a specific query, i.e. the number of times information was submitted via a search box.
8 Sessions indicates the unique cycle of user activities, usually defined by the time between when a user connects to a service and when they exit. COUNTER stats are used where available.
9 The accessibility and convenience of electronic resources are gaining prominence.
10 LibGuide subject pages were designed to take the place of Web Subject Links. The LibGuide pages collapsed the number of pages, which accounts for some of the decrease in use. We expect LibGuide use to “even out” at around 130,000 - 140,000 for the next 3 years.
11 Pageviews of online tutorials. Online tutorials teach information literacy skills and guide students through classroom and library research. For a full list of tutorials included, visit http://library.austincc.edu/help/tutorials.php.
12 The sharp increase reflects the addition of the new Round Rock Campus library collection.
13 The decrease reflects the shift in library spending on electronic subscriptions. Microform subscriptions reflect outdated technology and have been removed from the collection.
14 An electronic database is a paid subscription linked from the Library website for ACC student, faculty and staff use.
