Historical Profile

The Austin Community College (ACC) District was established in December 1972 by voters of the Austin Independent School District (AISD). In the fall of 1973, ACC registered 2,363 students. Classes began on September 17, 1973. The AISD Board of Trustees served as ACC's Board of Trustees, and the College shared the district's boundaries.

In December 1978, ACC was accredited by the Commission on Colleges of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools (SACS) to award associate degrees. ACC's enrollment had increased to 13,481 students.

On March 1, 1982, the AISD Board, following the guidelines of the Texas Education Code, established ACC's own governing Board of Trustees, consisting of nine elected members. Accreditation was reaffirmed by SACS in 1983, 1993, and 2004.

With its purchase of the Austin Country Club in January 1983, ACC acquired its first real estate. Situated at 5712 East Riverside Drive, the property is now ACC's Riverside Campus. ACC's Board of Trustees held its first election in the spring of that year.

On November 5, 1985, 83 percent of the citizens of the Leander Independent School District voted to become part of the ACC taxing district.

Following the passage of the 1985 General Appropriations Act, which stated that "it is the intent of the Legislature that all public junior colleges receiving state appropriations shall initiate procedures necessary to secure ad valorem revenues sufficient to supplement the funding of the district by August 31, 1987," ACC held a successful tax base election. The measure approved a maximum rate of five cents per $100 assessed property valuation.

On November 3, 1998, 70 percent of the citizens of the Manor ISD voted to become part of the ACC taxing district.

On May 3, 2003, voters held a successful referendum that increased the College's maximum tax rate to nine cents per $100 assessed property valuation and approved the sale of $99 million in bonds for construction of a South Austin campus and other facility improvements.

On May 15, 2004, 60 percent of the voters of the Del Valle Independent School District approved annexation into the ACC taxing district.

On May 7, 2005, 79 percent of voters approved a proposal to annex City of Austin territory not already in the ACC District. Annexed areas included portions of Pflugerville, Round Rock, and Eanes Independent School Districts inside the Austin city limits.

The South Austin Campus, ACC's seventh campus, opened its doors to students for the fall semester 2006. The College now maintains seven campuses: Rio Grande (1975), Riverside (1984), Northridge (1989), Pinnacle (1990), Cypress Creek (1991), Eastview (1999) and South Austin (2006). The College operates two additional facilities: the Highland Business Center (1988) and Service Center (2001).

On May 10, 2008, sixty-four percent of the voters of the Round Rock Independent School District approved annexation into the ACC taxing district.

Tim Mahoney

Place 1: Term ends in 2014

Tim Mahoney, first elected as a board member in May 2008, is an attorney, community lawyer, and trained mediator. Building structures for community cooperation and consensus have been among his longtime interests, and community education has been his passion. Graduating in 1974 from Dallas Community College, Mahoney returned to Austin in 1975, completing a degree in Humanities from the University of Texas in 1978. His journalism skills won him a number of national awards for articles written in The Texas Observer about taxing and bank-holding companies. Mahoney's attendance at the LBJ School of Public Affairs resulted in his 1982 Master's thesis: A Case Study of Decentralized Power Systems and Municipal Politics, Austin, Texas, 1979 to 1981. Entering the South Texas College of Law in 1989, he received his J.D. in 1991, with course work at the University of Texas School of Law. He was licensed to practice law in Texas in 1992.

Community colleges are the gateway to higher learning, absolutely essential for growing a workforce that will sustain a robust future for Texas citizens. Mahoney is the product of a community college. During his campaign in early 2008, he was buoyed by the spontaneous stories voters told him about their positive community college experiences. Often these folks were the first in a working-class family to go to college, worked while going to school, or increased their educational opportunities at different stages of their lives. For many, without the community college option, there would have been no college at all!

For the last few years, Mahoney has worked with other community leaders to find ways to empower local communities. That continuing effort has included organizing neighborhood-based capacity-building training programs, including the 2007 Neighborhood Planning Conference at Austin Community College's Eastview Campus. See: www.neighboraustin.com.

Mahoney and his wife, Melanie, have been married since 1989. Between them they have four children. The two oldest are married; one lives in Chicago, Illinois, and the other in Asheville, North Carolina. The two youngest attend AISD schools.
